

- Every year, billions of dollars are improperly spent because of Fraud, Waste & Abuse (FWA). It affects everyone - including you. This training helps you detect, correct, and prevent FWA. You are part of the solution
- Compliance is everyone's responsibility! As an individual who provides health or administrative services for Medicare and Medicaid enrollees, every action you take potentially affects Medicare and Medicaid enrollees, the Medicare and Medicaid Program, or the Medicare Trust Fund

What is Fraud?

Fraud is knowingly and willfully executing, or attempting to execute, a scheme or artifice to defraud any health care benefit program or to obtain, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises, any of the money or property owned by, or under the custody or control of, any health care benefit program.

What is Fraud?

The Health Care Fraud Statute makes it a criminal offense to knowingly and willfully execute a scheme to defraud a health care benefit program.

Health care fraud is punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years. It is also subject to criminal fines up to $250,000.

What is Fraud? Examples:

Examples of actions that may constitute Fraud include:

- Knowingly billing for services not furnished or supplies not provided
- Billing for missed patient appointments
- Knowingly altering claim forms, medical records, or receipts to receive a higher payment

What is Waste?

Waste includes practices that, directly or indirectly, result in unnecessary costs such as overusing services. Waste is generally not considered to be caused by criminally negligent actions but rather by the misuse of resources.

What is Waste? Examples:

Examples of actions that may constitute Waste include:

- Conducting excessive office visits
- Performing more dental procedures than necessary for treating a specific condition
- Ordering excessive x-rays or laboratory tests

What is Abuse?

Abuse includes actions that may, directly or indirectly, result in unnecessary costs. Abuse involves paying for items or services when there is no legal entitlement to that payment, and the provider has not knowingly or intentionally misrepresented facts to obtain payment.

Examples of actions that may constitute Abuse include:

Unknowingly billing for unnecessary medical services

What is Abuse? Examples:

- Unknowingly excessively charging for services or supplies
- Unknowingly misusing codes on a claim, such as upcoding or unbundling codes

- Upcoding
- Waiver of copayments
- Waiver of deductibles
- Altering dates of service
- Unbundling or improper use of codes
- Mispresenting patient identities
- Not disclosing existing of additional or primary coverage

Billing for services not provided is a common type of fraud (in every profession). It happens when (for example) a dentist who merely examined the patient bills for more expensive dental services, including fluoride and sealants.

This situation seems self-explanatory but may be more complicated. Obviously, it would be fraudulent to bill for a procedure that you have not performed.

What about billing for a Crown at the preparation date rather than the cementation date?

When is the service actually performed?

Most dentists send in for payment for crowns at the prep time; but most insurance carriers consider the crown "complete" only after it is cemented.

What about billing for Dentures at the impression date rather than at the delivery date?

Upcoding

Refers to coding a procedure as having a more extensive degree of difficulty than actually performed.

For example: A patient receives a standard prophylaxis (D1110), but the insurance carrier is billed for periodontal scaling and root planning (D4341).

Prophylaxis (D1110) is only for people who do not exhibit any of the signs and symptoms of periodontal disease, including bone loss, bleeding, mobility, and recession. D1110 is, thus, a preventive procedure for patients who don't yet have periodontal disease and should only be used with patients who are periodontally healthy.

Periodontal Scaling and Root Planning (D4341) or deep cleaning, is a procedure involving removal of dental plaque and calculus (scaling or debridement) and then smoothing, or planning, of the (exposed) surfaces of the roots, removing cementum or dentine that is impregnated with calculus, toxins, or microorganisms, the etiologic agents that cause inflammation.

Important Dental Service Terms

Prophylaxis: Preventive Cleaning

Scaling: Cleans the teeth to remove deposits above and below gum

Root Planning: Smooths rough root surfaces so gum can heal

Waiver of Copayments

Copayment

Set dollar amount you pay for a covered product or service.

Example:

Sara has a $20 copay for visits with her primary care physician (PCP) and a $40 copay for urgent care visits. What does that mean? She will pay $20 for every doctor visit and $40 every time she goes to urgent care.

 Patient copayments are an essential element to the cost structure of the contract between an insurance carrier and whomever is purchasing the coverage (such as an employer for employees)

- Waiving copayments is thought to encourage more usage of the coverage than would normally occur
- Routinely waiving copayments in health care programs paid with any portion of federal funds may be unlawful. There are some exceptions which include completing and submitting "financial hardship forms"

Waiver of Deductibles

Deductible

The amount you must pay for covered health care services before your health insurance kicks in.

Example:

If Luke's deductible is $2,000, his insurance won't pay for anything until he has paid $2,000 for covered health care costs. If he requires hospitalization that costs $3,000, he would pay the $2,000 deductible, and the plan would pay for a portion of the remaining $1,000 (based on Luke's plan specifics).

$2,000

As in the case of copayments, deductibles are considered to essential to an insurance carrier's contract cost structure.

In some states, waiving deductibles may be legal under certain conditions.

Altering Dates of Service [7]

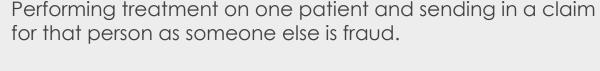

- The correct date a procedure is performed is important as related to patient eligibility requirements and waiting periods
- It is fraudulent to send in a claim for a treatment using a date other than the actual date of service
- If a patient asks a dentist to send in a claim using a date other than the actual treatment date and the dentist does so, both the dentist and the patient have committed fraud

Misrepresenting Patient Identifiers

Identity Theft

Medical identity theft refers to the misuse of a person's identity to obtain health care goods and services. A victim comes to know of the theft only when s/he receives a statement from an insurance company for services rendered.

The average medical identity theft victim pays $13,000 outof-pocket to resolve it.

Not Disclosing Additional or Primary Coverage

Patients who are covered by more than one dental plan or a medical and dental plan may receive benefits from all plans, provided each plan knows about the others. Sending in multiple claims to different carriers as if they were each the primary carrier is fraudulent.

Types of Health Insurance Coverage:

- Medicaid (MCD)
- Medicare (M)
- Medicare/Medicaid
- Point-of-Service Plan (POS)
- Preferred Provider Organization (PPO)
- TRICARE
- Unemployment Compensation Disability (UCD)
- Veterans Affairs Outpatient Clinic (VA)
- Workers Compensation Insurance (WC)

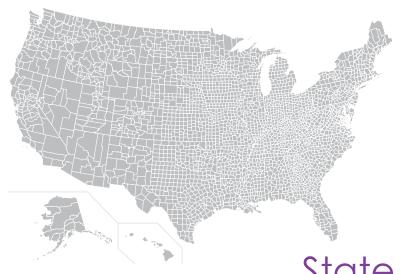

The Federal False Claims Act is a law that prohibits a person or entity, from "knowingly" presenting or causing to be presented a false or fraudulent claim for payment or approval to the Federal government, and from "knowingly" making, using or causing to be made a false record or statement to get a false or fraudulent claim paid or approved by the Federal government. The Act also prohibits a person or entity from conspiring to defraud the government by getting a false or fraudulent claim allowed or paid. These prohibitions extend to claims submitted to Federal health care programs, such as Medicare or Medicaid.

The Federal False Claims Act broadly defines the terms "knowing" and "knowingly." Specifically, knowledge will have been proven for purposes of the Federal False Claims Act if the person or entity: (1) has actual knowledge of the information; (2) acts in deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information; or (3) acts in reckless disregard of the truth or falsity of the information. The law specifically provides that a specific intent to defraud is not required in order to prove that the law has been violated.

The Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 Law & Legal Definition

Private persons are permitted to bring civil actions for violations of the Federal False Claims Act on behalf of the United States (also known as "qui tam" actions) and are entitled to receive percentages of monies obtained through settlements, penalties and/or fines collected.

Persons bringing these claims, also known as relators or whistleblowers, are granted protection under the law.

Specifically, any whistleblower who is discharged, demoted, suspended, threatened, harassed, or in any other manner discriminated against by his or her employer because of reporting violations of the Federal False Claims Act will be entitled to reinstatement with seniority, double back pay, interest, special damages sustained as a result of discriminatory treatment, and attorneys' fees and costs.

health firms involved directly or indirectly in Medicaid related claims.

1. First, Congress authorized the establishment of a new Medicaid Integrity Program with specific contractors to monitor fraud and abuse in the various state Medicaid programs. For many years, the vast majority of states have had Medicaid Fraud Control Units (MFCU) to coordinate statewide efforts to uncover and prosecute fraud in the Medicaid context. Although the MFCUs will continue in combatting health care fraud, the DRA—with its development of the Medicaid Integrity Program—significantly expanded the federal government's role by establishing new contractors and funding for additional federal staff to address Medicaid fraud.

The Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 (the "DRA"), signed into law February 8, 2006, contained a number of provisions intended to bolster Medicaid fraud and abuse enforcement. These new provisions mean that there is likely to be an increase in fraud enforcement activities at the state level against those

2. Second, Congress adopted a provision that provides states with an incentive to adopt state false claims acts that substantially mirror the requirements of the Federal False Claims Act. States that adopt a state false claims act that satisfies these requirements can increase their share of the amounts recovered against providers for engaging in improper conduct. Specifically, if a state brings an action under its state false claims law against a Medicaid provider, then the state can be entitled to receive 10 percent of the federal government's share of any recovery. Congress provided that the Office of Inspector General (OIG) would be responsible for determining whether a state has adopted a false claims act that meets these requirements and the OIG published in the Federal Register guidelines that it will apply in reviewing state false claims acts.²

3. Third, The third fraud and abuse provision included in the DRA, which has received the greatest amount of attention is that, effective January 1, 2007, state Medicaid plans are required to ensure that any entity that receives or makes payments under the state plan of at least $5 million per year must provide certain information to its employees, contractors and agents concerning federal and state false claims act provisions, penalties and protections. As a result of this provision, entities that are subject to these requirements must review their corporate compliance programs, policies and procedures, and their employee handbooks (if such a handbook does, in fact, exist) to ensure that the requisite information is being provided to employees, contractors and agents.
